Running ZZedc Independently for Clinical Research Data Management

Evaluating open-source options for investigator-controlled EDC deployment

Ronald 'Ryy' G. Thomas

2025-12-07

Table of contents

Figure 1: A secure server room with clinical research data management infrastructure visible

Investigator-controlled electronic data capture returns data ownership to the research team.

1 Introduction

I did not really know how achievable investigator independence in clinical data management was until I deployed ZZedc on a personal AWS instance and ran a pilot study without vendor involvement.